Nominee:

NOTE: pursuant to BCPSEA's constitution and bylaws, a Trustee in a conflict of interest may not be elected to the BCPSEA Board of Directors, be designated as their Board's BCPSEA Trustee Representative, or represent a Board at a BCPSEA general meeting or any other BCPSEA function.

For Trustees of a Board of Education (Board) in British Columbia, a conflict of interest exists if the threshold for either of the following tests is met:

- Pursuant to the School Act, a Trustee is prohibited from participating in or influencing decisions of the Board in respect of which the Trustee has a "pecuniary interest". The School Act defines pecuniary interest as a direct or indirect interest that could monetarily affect the Trustee or their spouse, parent, or child, but excludes interests that are so remote or insignificant that they could not reasonably be regarded as likely to influence the Trustee.
- At common law, the test for a conflict of interest is whether or not a reasonably well-informed person – viewing the matter realistically and practically and having thought the matter through – would conclude that a Trustee's decision-making could be influenced by the Trustee's personal interest in a matter.

Please refer to BCPSEA's Conflict of Interest for Trustees: Guidelines for matters related to collective bargaining or the administration of a collective agreement for more information and carefully review the common scenarios section, which sets out personal circumstances that preclude participation in BCPSEA matters as well as those which must be disclosed to BCPSEA for consideration. If your personal circumstances fall into the latter category, please contact Chris Beneteau, Executive Director, Labour Relations (LR Liaison and Legal Services) at chrisb@bcpsca.bc.ca prior to completing this nomination form.
